

As part of our project, we implemented two FaaS based demo applications: A webshop and an IoT-resembling traffic light calculator for some road crossing. They serve both as examples how to build fully working and adaptively deployable applications within our framework as well as a baseline for real application-oriented FaaS benchmarks.